SENATE.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—Num-erous bills which had been introduced and were pending in the last Congress were reintroduced and referred to com-Peffer, proposing an issue of $250,000,000 treasury notes to be deposited in the treasury and to be available as cash.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Chandler, declaring that there was no lawful election of United States Senator in Kansas when Martin was declared elected, also, one looking to opening of a coast line of waterways. These were referred to committees.

Mr. Morrill, of Vermont, asked and obtained indefinate leave of absence after to-day on account of ill health. He then addressed the Senate in favor of the bill reported from the finance committee last Friday, to discontinue the purchase of silver bullion. His speech, which was ready, bore the motto of "Sound money

He frankly avowed that he did not yet abandon all hope of bimetalism. After the repeal of the purchasing clauses of the Sherman act the country would not be dependent on gold alone, as there would be in the Treasury much more silver than gold and much more paper currency than ever before, and the silver dollar would not be demone-

At the end of Mr. Morrill's speech, Mr. Voorhees presented the letter addressed to him by the Secretary of the Treasury. Showing the probable cost of coinage of silver at a changed ratio, and had it read by the clerk, saving that he deemed it his duty to lay it before the Senate and the country.

It was agreed that the vote on the Lee Mantle, case, should be taken at five

Mr. McDonald said that he was in favor of the free coinage of silver and gold at any ratio that might be acceptable. He would then remove from both their legal tender quality. Mr. Bartlett (Democrat, New York,) srid that with the message of the Fresident he was in thorough accord. He would regard the amendments providing for free coinage as remedies more fatal than the disease. They would be like the deadly poison which hastened the moribund patient to death, without intarnational agreement there could be one standard, and he was in favor of that standard, and to-day that sunard was gold.

Mr. Stockdale (Democrat, Mississippi, atgued that the Sherman bill had ittle to do with hichpresent stagination of business, but that it was attributable primarily to the tariff. He liked the East, but the people of the South would not forsake their own interests in order to benefit the East or the West. In 1887 the Democrats would come here with a Democratic President and a Democratic House and Senate, and it would take the free coinage of sildent and a Democratic House and Senate, and it would take the free coinage of sil-ver home with it. [Applause]. The House then at 11:10 adjourned.

THE SENATE SITUATION. What is Expected from Mr. Voorhees'

Speech To-Day.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21.—The antisilver men in the Senate are looking forward to the speech to be made by Senator Voorhees to-morrow to greatly strengthen the cause of unconditional repeal. Voorhees is a gifted orator, and has a plan way of stating his convictions calculated to impress his associates. While the announcement recently of his position in favor of unconditional repeal has been treated by many as an unexpected revelation, there has really been no change in his attitude since the-crisis came on. He has always been a bimetallist, and still adheres to that doctrine, but months ago, when the dangers of the present financial situation of the country became apparent, he publicly announced his conviction, still adhering to bimetallism, that the sherman law should be repealed promptly, without the incumbrance of other propositions on the repeal measure, and that other financial legislation should stand by itself;
His speech tomorrow is expected to be the speech of the session on the repeal side of the question, and it will probably attract more attention than any yet made. Speech To-Day.

the speech of the session on the released side of the question, and it will probably attract more attention than any yet made.

OTHER DEMOCRATIC SENATORS' INFLUENCE.
It is understood that the attitude taken by Mr. Voorhees has influenced a number of the Democratic Senators, who, like bimself, have always been bimetallists. The report is out today that three or four of the Senators who have always been silver men have said that they will vote for unconditional repeal if the proposition is squarely presented to them. Thus, it may be said that the situation from the point of view of the advocates of repeal has improved in the Senate, yet there still remains with them, if in the minority, the power to delay action for a long time, with the prospect slways before them of the pressing necessity for the repeal being relieved by the operation of time and the impossibility of the money now hoarded staving in the toe of the stocking for ever and ever. With the bank bill up for consideration, and many amendments to it to be disposed of, the silver men have a pretty strong breastwork thrown up between them and the repeal bill. It is expected that the amendment to the bank bill over which there will be the most dedetermined fight will be that providing for the repeal of the State bank tax, and discussion on it is expected to be of long duration.

DISCUSSING ADJOURNMENT.

DISCUSSING ADJOURNMENT.

that adjournment is possible next mouth say that Mr. Vest's proposition to provide for free coinage of silver at a ratio of 20 to 1 will be passed by the Senate and ultimately will become a part of the bill for unconditional repeal which, it is expected, will be passed by the House. The liklihood of a veto by President Cleveland of such a measure has been discounted by the believers in this reported early adjournment.

They argue that it would be impossible to raily a two-thirds vote in either house to pass it over his veto, and that nothing could be accomplished, so far as the financial situation is concerned, by Congress remaining in session after such a veto was received. received.

The more experienced watchers of political events place no confidence in these early adjournment theories.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21. — Orders have been issued by the Treasury Department to all sub-treasurers to pay out gold over counters, the same as other classes of money.

The effect of this is to practically place the gold reserve among the available cash assets. As the result, the gold balance has been somewhat reduced, being slightly below $100,000,000. The net treasury balance is $11,759,000.

Receipts continue light and expendi-tures heavy, so that before the month of August expires the Treasury balance will both be probably lower than now.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 21.-The Secretary of the Navy to-day received the following dispatch from Capt. A. V. Reed, Commandant of the Pensacola Naval Station: "Cordon removed by order of Marine Hospital Service, Quarantine raised." Cordon of which Capt. Reed makes mention was placed about naval reservations to prevent communicotion between the people living on it and the city of Pensacola. . . .

Washingeen Notes.

One of the female clerks in the inspecttor's division of the Post Office Department caused a panic this morning by rushing into inspector Clum's lair and innocently asking him for a D blank. Mr. Clum was the first to discover the discrepancy between the lady's remark and church going English, and promptly turned has face to the wail. The young lady, seeing the point, reddened like the sky when the idaring chariot of day rolls overboard into the waters of the west, and staumered out some explanation, which was that Inspector King had just invented a new demand blank for the benefit of delinquent rostmasters, and the initial of the word demand was used simply for the sake of brevity.

Senator Hill, who has been quite ill at the Normandie for several days past, was reported to be considerably better this atternoon. On Saturday he was feverish and was unable to leave his bed. His allment is an outgrowth of a stomach trouble, which was made worse by the failure of the Senator to det himself properly. At a late hour this afternoon a press reporter, who called at the Normandie, was told that his condition had considerably improved, and that he was able to be up and about, although the physician still forbade his leaving the house for several days yet.

It is reported that Mr. Lang, by appointment, met the young lady (accompanied by a friend) at a noint about midway between Suffolk and Windsor, whence they drove across the country to the North Carolina line, and were made man and wife.

Charles V. Decker, the alleged bigamist, tried to make his escape from jail a day or two ago by scaling the yard wall. The well-behaved prisoners are allowed to go into the yard every day for fresh air and exercise, and it was while enloying this privilege that Decker and another prisoner made an effort to free themselves. Failing in this they entered into a conspiracy to assault the jailer at night, secure his keys and escape in that way. This plot was divulged, however, and Decker and his companion soon found themselves inmates of the dungeon. During the religious exarcises at the jail yesterday Decker professed conversion.

Norpola, Va., August 21.—The Union plumbers employed by several firms struck this morning on account of the employment of non-union or "scab" workmen by the firms for which they worked. The firms refused to discharge the men. Henry J. Maigne, bookkeeper of the Norfolk National Bank, died last night at his borne on Charlotte street.

RALEIGE, N. C., Aug. 21.—The warehouse men of Durham have issued an order suspending leaf tobacco sales indefinitely. All the warehouses will be closed until the tobacco trade improves. The reasong iven is that all the buyers are overstocked, the price of tobacco is at its zero point, and factories are closing down all over the country. Several Durham factories have and down, throwing hundreds of people out of employment.

Contract for the Statue Signed.

If no unforeseen difficulties occur the massive pronze figure of a Confederate hero will surmount the Soldiers' and Sallors' monument on Libby Hill by next spring. Several weeks ago the Committee on Design, who were appointed to select a model of the statue, accepted the design offered by Mr. W. L. Sheppard, of this city. Yesterday the Association and Mr. Sheppard signed the contract for the execution of the statue, and work upon the bronze will be commenced at once. The figure, which will represent a Confederate infantryman, will be the largest pedestrian statue in this city or State. It will be fourteen teet high and considerably taller than the colossal bronzes at the bases of the Washington monument.

The Disparch reporter who interviewed Lynch just after he was arrested was piaced upon the stand. Counsel for the accused objected to a statement on the part of the news, gatherer, but the Court decided that the scribe could proceed, and the examination only went to show that Lynch made conflicting and incoherent statements.

Dr. Win, H. Taylor, of Richmond, who examined the large red spots supposed to be blood stains, found on the clothes which Lynch were when arrested was present, but it was nearly night when he was put on the stand. The chemist found the stains to be those of blood and when questioned by the Disparch man as to what he thought of Lynch's mental condition said from what he had seen and heard of the man and the case he was inclined to believe him insane.
